JUDGE GARY STARTLES THE INVESTIGATORS BY THE TRUST STORY

Steel Men Are Anxious to Have Controversies Settled and Agitation Stopped, and Would Welcome Most Rigid Control by Government if it Would Bring Quiet.

Promises To Prosecute The Trusts

Wickersham Will Get After Officers of All Bad Trusts.

New York, June 3.—The World prints the following from Washington this morning:

"Attorney General Wickersham will proceed criminally against the officials of the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company. He will not do so, however, until the time allowed by the United States supreme court for the dissolution of the two trusts has expired. This statement was made to the correspondent of the World by an official high in the administration.

"Neither President Taft nor Attorney General Wickersham intends allowing any official of the two trusts which they are able to reach to escape, but they do not believe it would be proper to start proceedings until after the supreme court's mandate has been executed.

"President Taft was asked by callers whether he thought the Sherman anti-trust law was antiquated. 'No,' replied Mr. Taft, 'they are just beginning to make it useful.'

Car Robber Captured.

Painesville, O., June 3.—When express messengers here opened a car on an eastbound Lake Shore solid baggage train to load fish they found a robber in the car. The man escaped through the front door, but was unable to get away, owing to the vestibule. The car was locked and Ashtabula notified. A man who gave his name as William Burns was taken off the train at Ashtabula and is being held on suspicion. The packages in the express car had been opened and the contents strewn on the floor.

KOHLER GETS VACATION

Cleveland Police Chief Will Recuperate in Europe.

Cleveland, O., June 3.—Safer Hogen granted Chief Kohler's request for an indefinite leave of absence. Kohler will prepare immediately for the European trip which he expects will benefit his health. He intends to go to a rest cure in Germany, and has booked passage on the German Lloyd line for June 8.

"There are no conditions attached to the chief's leave of absence, except that we have reserved the privilege of recalling him at any time," said Hogen.

Fight Results Fatally.

Bellaire, O., June 3.—Daniel Byer, 66, a farmer, living near here, died as a result of injuries inflicted on his face and head with a club during a quarrel with a neighbor, James Dumble, 40, who lives on an adjoining farm, was arrested and charged with murder.

WHOLE BRIBERY STORY SECURED BY HOGAN FROM ASSEMBLY OFFICER

Confession is Wrung From Attache, When Immunity Bath is Offered. Resolve Not to Offer Inducements Shattered by Result in Nye Prosecution—Story is Regarded as Valuable.

WILL AID OTHER PROSECUTIONS

Attorney General and Franklin County Prosecutor Confident They Have the Goods on Several Legislators. Grand Jury Will Make Partial Report Monday — Governor Rejects Provision Inserted in Tax Code Law at Request of Ohio Bankers.

Columbus, O., June 3.—If present plans are followed, the grand jury that is investigating legislative bribery will make a report next Monday morning. From a statement made by Prosecutor Turner, it is inferred that the grand jury is not through and that the report expected Monday will be only a partial one.

"The next case tried will result in a conviction," said Attorney General Hogan.

Attorney General Hogan was authority for a statement that a legislative officer had made a confession of a bribery transaction. He first was confronted with indictable evidence in the hands of Hogan and Prosecutor Turner and then made a clean breast of the affair. He is under promise of immunity.

Edits The New Tax Code

Harmon Blue-Pencils Amendment Inserted by Bankers.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Governor Harmon in approving the Hollinger tax code bill, designed to clear up ambiguities in authority conferred upon the state tax commission, vetoed an amendment inserted by the senate at the instance of Ohio bankers and building and loan officials, forbidding the commission to examine into bank and building and loan deposits and into holdings, wherever located, of individuals in building and loan shares.

Bankers had the provision inserted as a precaution. They declare there is serious doubt whether the commission has a right to look into deposits.

The governor, in a statement, said such deposits should be taxed, especially in view of the fact that the maximum levy has been cut to 1 per cent.

Harmon Signs Tax Bill.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Governor Harmon signed the Smith 1 per cent tax limit bill, and it is now a law. The governor refused to listen to the arguments of those who asserted that it is full of mistakes.

Returns To Home She Founded

Auburn, N. Y., June 3.—Harriet Tubman, the famous old negroess who ran away out of slavery before the civil war and became the most noted "conductor of the underground railroad," piloting over 300 slaves to freedom, was taken to the Harriet Tubman home in this city, ill and penniless. She gave her all to establish the home for aged colored men, and women of which she is now an inmate. She is, nearly as can be ascertained, between 95 and 100 years old.

Roland Garros, Who Braved Alpine Perils In Great Paris to Turin Aeroplane Race.

When the Paris to Turin aeroplane race was planned the bird men faced a most hazardous trip across the Alps. Roland Garros, one of the most daring entrants, has made scores of flights in America. He first used a Demoiselle and later was taught the knack of running a Blériot monoplane by John Moisant, who was killed at New Orleans.

ROBBED ON CAMPUS

University of Minnesota Cashier Victim of Three Thugs.

Minneapolis, June 3.—Exhausted after a dash through the campus, J. D. Bren, cashier at the University of Minnesota, staggered into his office in the library building and told George Hayes, university controller, that he had been attacked, roughly handled and robbed of more than $13,000 by three men who waylaid him at the edge of the campus. He had drawn the money from a safe deposit vault to make refunds to students.

It was in a secluded place, with no house in sight, and on the brink of the river bank, that Bren says he was stopped by a highwayman armed with a revolver. Once in the power of the first robber, two others were summoned, he says, and took away Bren's satchel containing the money.

Started Fire With Oil.

Youngstown, O., June 3.—Mrs. Richard Marro is dead as the result of attempting to light a fire with kerosene. Her husband and a neighbor were badly burned.

Appraiser Of Banks Is Victim Of Thugs

Body of Wellsville Man Found In Alley.

Wellsville, O., June 3.—Police authorities who have been at work on the brutal murder of Oscar P. Bowers are positive that the crime is closely connected with the assignment of the Silver Banking company.

Oscar Bowers was appointed one of three appraisers to fix the value of the property assigned by T. H. Silver, proprietor of the bank. Since the assignment scores of the depositors have been in an ugly mood, and the police have carefully guarded the bank property and everyone connected with the bank's affairs. Silver, his son Tom, assistant cashier of the bank, and the cashier are out of the city. This ugly feeling was increased when Assignee McKenzie opened the bank's vault and found very little money inside.

Bowers went with the other appraisers to inspect the Champion brick works, one of the properties assigned by Silver. They were not interfered with. Bowers was at his poolroom in the evening, closing it at midnight. Then he started home alone, in his shirt sleeves.

He had gone back from Main street down Cherry alley when he was attacked. Nearby residents heard the melee and called the police. When they arrived they found Bowers dead, with every evidence of a terrific struggle surrounding him. His skull was crushed in by repeated blows from a bludgeon—a club was found near by and a bloody knife also lay on the ground.

DEALS OF WORLD-WIDE DEAL

Meeting at Brussels Will Attempt to Organize Industry to Prevent "Disruptive Fluctuations of Prices." Also Describes Hurdled Trip to Washington to See Roosevelt About Tennessee Iron and Coal Deal. Made to Prevent Panic in 1907.

Washington, June 3.—In his testimony before the house investigating committee, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, sprung several surprises. He went into the details of the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation. He laid before committee the inside facts of the all-night conferences that were held in J. P. Morgan's library in the nerve-racking days of the 1907 panic, described how he and Henry C. Frick had rushed by special train to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, how the long-distance telephone from the White House to New York had been held open for a flash of the result while the conference was on and how finally widespread financial disaster was averted by the purchase of the United States Steel corporation by the Tennessee Coal and Iron company.

Discredits Story by Gates.

Judge Gary denied emphatically the statements made by John W. Gates before the house committee that the taking over of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation was a "squeeze," a forced sale. He declared that the purchase was made at the solicitation of Grant B. Schley of the banking and brokerage firm of Moore & Schley, and his friends to save that concern from going under and to prevent the financial calamity that would certainly follow its downfall.

Of almost equal interest to Judge Gary's account of the Tennessee Coal and Iron transaction were the general views expressed by him on the future of big industrial corporations in this country. He declared that as a matter of self-preservation they must come to enforced publicity and governmental control. The steel corporation, he said, would welcome such control. He agreed with the suggestion that the Sherman anti-trust law is an archaic statute, and declared that the industrial progress of the future demanded corporation co-operation in trade if demoralization is to be avoided.

The steel corporation head denied that there was any pool among the steel rail producers, but imparted the information that the price of steel rails would have to be raised in the near future.

Gary also admitted a worldwide steel trust—an international steel and iron institute—to prevent "disruptive fluctuations in steel prices" will be proposed and probably formed at a meeting of the world's steel companies in Brussels, July 5 and 6.

Says Report Not Suppressed.

Washington, June 3.—Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith said that the report of the bureau in the case of the steel industry had not been suppressed, and that he intended to lay the report before the president in the near future.

Minister Killed by Fall.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Rev. David W. 1, a retired Methodist Episcopal minister widely known throughout Ohio, was killed in stepping off a moving streetcar on route home from the funeral of a living friend.

MAJOR MALLOW'S OWNER OFFERS TO MATCH AGAINST BEST PACERS

Major Mallow, owned by Mr. Wirt Mallow of this county, promises to be the sensation of the season if an offer just made by Mr. Mallow to race the Major against Independence Boy, or any other pacer, is accepted.

Details are given in Friday's Columbus Citizen, regarding the offer made by Mr. Mallow, and are as follows:

"W. H. Mallow, of Washington C. H. has offered to race Major Mallow, 2:03 1/4, against Independence Boy, 2:03 1/4, the local horse, touted as the big sensation of the coming season, or any other pacer, a mile over a half-mile track for a purse of $1500, winner take all.

Mallow wants the race July 4 at Dayton or Fairmont, W. Va. Major Mallow and Independence Boy will race over a mile track in August at the local race meeting. They will be pitted against The Abbe and other stars.

"Major Mallow is a remarkable horse. He is frail and undersized, but has made more starts in his career of four years than any other horse ever has on the track. He is one of the fastest pacers despite the terrific campaigning he has been put through.

"Major Mallow is 11 years old. He has made 68 starts in four years and finished in the money 59 times. He has always had to show remarkable speed, for he has always raced against the fastest pacers.

"In 1907 Major Mallow made 17 starts and finished in the money 13 times. He made 13 starts in 1908, and won money 11 times. In 1909 he started 20 times and won money 19 times. He won 13 firsts. In 1910 he made 18 starts and finished in the money 16 times.

"Major Mallow has averaged 17 starts a year and won money on an average of 14 1/4 times a year. W. H. Mallow bred the horse and has driven him in nearly all his races.

It is believed by many that the Major can beat all competitors over a half-mile track, and it is hoped the opportunity will be given him to show his best speed.

Dr. Brock's Auto Loops the Loop

One of the most peculiar auto accidents—or what came near being an accident, occurred at the Court and Fayette street intersection shortly before eight o'clock this morning, when Dr. L. L. Brock was driving his automobile west on Court street.

As he reached the intersection the wheels of his rapidly moving machine, skidded on the wet pavement, and quick as a flash the auto swung across the street and turned completely around, facing back in the direction it had come, the rear wheel barely striking the curb at the Washington Savings Bank corner.

It was a close call, and all occurred so quickly that there was no time to try to do anything, the entire proceeding taking place within a moment's time.

Farmer Dies Following Operation

Mr. Ed Anders, aged about 50 years, of near Buena Vista, was removed to Cincinnati Wednesday and operated upon Thursday for cancer of the stomach. Death resulted Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The remains will be brought home for interment. Mr. Anders was one of the best known farmers in the Buena Vista neighborhood.

JUNE WEDDING.

A June nuptial event creating quite a stir in Sunnyside is the Tom Thumb wedding which comes off at Wesley Chapel on the seventh. The bride and bridesmaids are having elaborate gowns made and the wedding will be celebrated in the fashion of high society.

WORK OF CONSTRUCTING NEW STOCK YARDS FOR C. & M. V. IS BEGUN

The old C. & M. V. stock yards, which for years have been located immediately south of the C. & M. V. freight depot on what will soon be the Slagle Lumber & Coal Company's yards, has been vacated and new stock yards are now under court of construction near the Plyley Storage houses on Hinde street, where the turn table was formerly located.

A gang of workmen are busy on the new stock pens, and have finished the extension of the switch formerly used as an approach to the turn table, and within the next ten days the yards will be completed and stock will be loaded from the new chutes. The yards are even better located than the ones formerly used.

Just as soon as the new stock yards are finished the old ones will be removed, and the Slagle Lumber & Coal Company will commence the construction of their new office building on the corner, and tearing out the old foundry building. The present yards will undergo a complete change making a decided improvement, and removing more than one eye-sore.

Storm Plays Havoc With Telephones

A single flash of lightning, the same bolt which killed Adam Beck's horse, burned out 42 telephones for the Washington Home Telephone Company and 50 for the Bell Telephone Company at 7:45 Saturday morning, causing quite a loss to both companies, and it will require some little time to repair all of the phones.

In many instances the subscribers were frightened almost into hysterics by the flash of flame and loud report as the phones were burned out.

Charles Moots Granted Divorce

In the case of Chas. Moots vs. Mildred Moots in which the plaintiff sought divorce upon the grounds of neglect and desertion, a divorce was awarded Moots in Probate Court Friday. Moots is well known in this city where he has lived for several years.

Family Driving Mare Killed by Lightning

Y. M. C. A. Excavations Almost Completed

The extensive excavating for the main building of the Y. M. C. A. has been completed, and the work of building the foundation walls will soon commence. The deepest part of the excavation is nearly eighteen feet, and marks the lowest point in the swimming pool.

Work on the basement walls will probably commence next week, and it is expected that rapid progress will be made thereafter. A large quantity of building material has been hauled to the grounds ready for use.

Generous Rain Much Needed

The rain Saturday morning has been badly needed by the farmers for some three weeks, and just in time to prevent a great damage by reason of a drouth. Practically all of the growing crops throughout the county were suffering for just such a rain, and the shower means thousands of dollars in the pockets of Fayette farmers.

The rain was general all over the country, and never was rainfall more welcome. The ground had become so dry that in many instances all attempts to prepare it for planting to corn, were given up. The lack of proper moisture has caused the wheat to head out with unusually short straws, and cut the hay crop short to some extent.

Vast Amounts For Good Roads

The money that will be expended on the roads of the country during the next six months will be more than ever before in the same period of time. In 1904, the total expenditure for the construction and maintenance of roads had bridges in the United States amounted to about $80,000,000, but the expenditure for this purpose in 1911 will aggregate about $140,500,000. Exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, the outlay for roads will amount to $1,000,000 a day during the present road building season. This includes all moneys raised by local taxation, bond issues, state appropriations and private subscriptions.

"Every state in the Union," said Logan Waller Page, Director of the United States Office of Public Roads, in telling of the result of the great campaign for good roads, "seems at last to be thoroughly aroused to the benefits derived from investments in improved highways."

"In 1910 30 counties in Ohio voted $2,500,000 in bonds to be expended this year. Ohio will also expend about $500,000 from state revenues for road improvement."

South Solon Man Strangely Missing

Chas. T. Gunter, proprietor of the Mission Furniture Company of South Solon, has disappeared, leaving no clew behind as to his present whereabouts, other than that he started for Springfield. Gunter was afflicted with lung trouble, and left over a week ago for Springfield, ostensibly to procure medicine.

It is said that he had some large bills which fell due about this time, and that this may have something to do with his mysterious disappearance.

Greenfield Planning Y. M. C. Campaign

The forerunners of a campaign to raise money for the construction of a Y. M. C. A. building in Greenfield, have made their appearance, and it is believed that within the next few weeks the campaign will be inaugurated and carried to a successful end.

At present the matter is creating much discussion, and a large number have manifested their desire to assist in the movement. Our neighbor has 1,228 inhabitants, and wealth enough to support a splendid Y. M. C. A.

SCHOOL YEAR CLOSED SPLENDID WORK DONE BY TEACHERS AND PUPILS

In Social Circles

The public schools closed Friday for the summer vacation.

In all the grades promotion cards were given out and the farewell ceremonies over in the morning.

The Ninth year commencement was held in the High school hall, with a large representation of parents and patrons of the school present.

Flags and flowers were in effective arrangement on the platform, where fifty-five graduates from the Ninth year grades of Miss Thurston and Mrs. Brundige formed a circle.

The commencement program was simple and pleasing.

Each graduate responded to roll call with a quotation beautifully recited and carefully chosen.

The music was entirely by the pupils. An opening song by all the pupils and a Ninth grade chorus both well sung.

There were exceedingly pretty piano solos by Miss Jean Fitzgerald and Edwards Hopkins.

Supt. Wm. McClain presented the certificates to the graduates and welcomed them into the High school with brief remarks of encouragement for good work.

There is a consensus of opinion that the public schools of our city have had an excellent year, and that the harmonious efforts of the Board of Education, superintendent and teachers, has been crowned with success.

Chas. M. Stimson Has Donated To Local Y. M. C. A.

Unintentionally several errors occurred in an article relative to Mr. Charles M. Stimson, of Los Angeles, Cal., and his recent donation of $25,000 to the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A., appearing in Friday evening's Daily Herald.

Contrary to the statement that Mr. Stimson has not donated to the local Y. M. C. A., he has already shown his interest in a substantial donation and is keeping in touch with its movements with so much sympathy that it encourages the hope that in case of urgent need at any time he would again extend a helping hand.

Mr. Stimson came from the town of his birth, Gray, Me., to our county seat when quite a young man and began in Washington C. H., the business career which has met with such pronounced success from its very start.

So interwoven with his personal success was the early growth and business prosperity of our city, that our citizens have followed his notable business activity in the West with interest and undoubtedly feel for Mr. Stimson an attachment which he has never failed to reciprocate.

Second Operation In Family Within Few Weeks

Miss Daisy Cockerill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Cockerill, underwent a serious operation at the Protestant Hospital in Columbus Friday.

For some time Miss Cockerill has suffered from ear and throat trouble and had part of the tonsils removed some time ago.

In this second operation the remainder of the tonsils were taken out and also the adenoids, which had hardened and it is thought were causing most of the ear trouble.

Dr. Brown, of Columbus, operated, and Miss Schryver, the same trained nurse, who was with Mr. Jacob Cockerill during his recent operation, accompanied Miss Cockerill and is staying with her.

Friends hope for a complete recovery in a short time.

BUSINESS.

It is and has been for some time, the general impression that gratitude and politics are strangers.

Of late years the impression has been steadily growing that gratitude and business are not on as intimate terms as they might be. Frequently the expression is heard that gratitude does not bring anything of value to you in business.

Business is each day, being conducted more and more on business principle, which in the commonly accepted meaning is that nothing counts except that it be capable of measurement in dollars and cents.

There is no disguising the fact that modern business methods are not as "loose" as they once were, but experience has taught many of us and the testimony of those who have graduated in the college of experience, tells more of us, that kindness in business does not bring the return in convertible assets which the dollar for dollar plan does.

The busy, materially loving world, each day is growing firmer in the tendency to measure a man's real worth, by what he has to show for his life's work and that exhibit must be made in dollars and cents or their equivalent.

The "good fellow" has long since passed off the stage of action and can no longer convert his good disposition into that which keeps the wolf from the door. People nowadays believe in helping the man who helps himself and in loving the man who loves himself first and best of all.

Unselfishness and kindness are regarded as beautiful theories, but wholly impractical as means to the desired end—success—in the world of business.

Business is a law unto itself, governed by a code of laws to meet the conditions as they exist at present. Obedience to these laws brings it reward, full and generous, but in it gratitude will not be found.

The business world today does not hand men anything through gratitude. It gives them what it is compelled to give them. Nothing more, nothing less and every move in the game is regulated by rules as fixed as those governing private lives, but the penalty for violation is more severe and more certain.

If a man would succeed in the game he must abide by the rules, lay his kindly feelings aside and play for all that is in sight.

Kindness is an admirable trait of character, but valueless in business. Politeness is a veneer, which passes for kindness, answers every purpose to the everyday man and is much more readily convertible into money.

In fact modern business regards true, unselfish kindness as a liability and politeness as a valuable asset.

Many men in private life are controlled by impulses which would break them up in business and many men would hate themselves, justly too, if their private life was governed by business rules.

And the beauty of all is that it works life a charm. The business man by leaving kindness out of his business code has the means to gratify his kind impulses in private life.

HEY, YOU!

Is it necessary to use a megaphone to call your attention to the fact that every time you patronize a Mail Order House in some distant city you take money out of circulation in your own community, thereby reducing to that extent the prosperity of your neighbors, including yourself in the long run? Think it over carefully and get back into the ALL HOME TRADE procession.

POETRY FOR TODAY

"WHERE THE BREEZE IS BLOWING SWEET."

There's many a dream in a shady place,
 Where the breeze is blowin' sweet,
 And you half forget the human race
 Lost in a dream retreat.
 Whispers sweet of the friendly pines,
 And bees that hum in the swaying vines.

Brief is life, yet the road seems long,
 And sorrows enough we meet.
 But the soul has a dream and the heart a song
 Far in a dream retreat.
 Roll O world, on your weary way—
 A dream and a rose and a song of May.

—Frank L. Stanton in the Atlanta Constitution.

TIMELY BREVITIES

Dr. William Osborne McDowell, "the peace-maker," is sixty-one years old. He got a commission as first lieutenant from the governor of New Jersey in 1864; but, being only sixteen, he was not allowed to serve. He has devoted himself for many years to the organization of societies for the advancement of world peace.

Germany's remarkable prosperity is again revealed by statistics showing that 1,500,000 foreign workmen are employed in the country. There are approximately 800,000 foreigners holding industrial places and 700,000 who are agriculturists. The importation of these foreigners is necessary owing to the lack of German labor.

More than half of the students of Cornell university who were recently elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society were women. This society stands for pure scholarship alone, and of the twenty-seven members elected this year fifteen are women. There are only 400 women students in Cornell out of a total enrollment of 5,000.

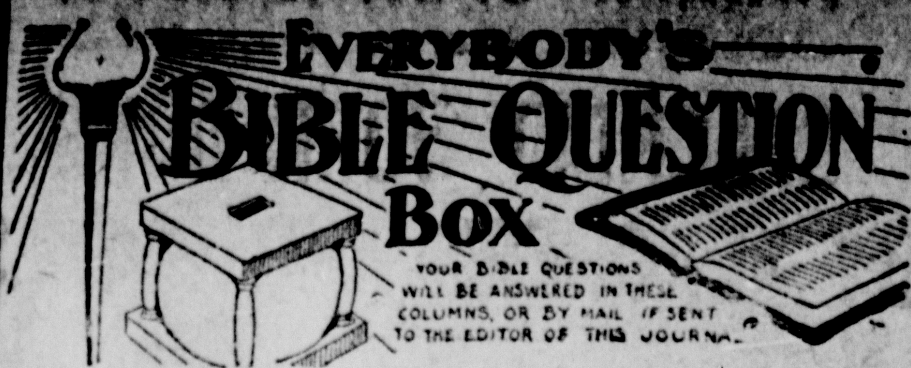

The appearance of parts of New Zealand is being greatly improved by tree planting on a large scale, which will in time be a source of large revenue to the state. It is carried on mainly by prison labor and by the labor of discharged prisoners, who are given employment and a new start in life at planting trees at a wage of $2 a day.

No fewer than 600 physicians in Europe have become members of the International Esperanto Physicians' association, which has an official medical journal printed monthly in Esperanto. The adaptability of that new language for use in technical fields, according to the association's members is clearly shown. They say it is read with ease.

188.—Who are the "spirits in prison" to whom Christ preached? and how could he preach when he was in the tomb three days and nights? Compare I Peter iii, 18-20 with Matthew xii, 40.

Answer.—It is a common error to suppose that St. Peter meant that our Lord Jesus preached to the spirits of dead men and women. He preached to spirit beings—those spirits who were imprisoned at the time of the flood, as the Apostle Peter says, "in chains of darkness." He declares that they were disobedient in the days of Noah, when the ark was in preparation (II Pet. ii, 4).

How, then, did our Lord preach to these fallen angels? We reply, it was a sermon in pantomime, in which actions spoke louder than words. The actions were these: These fallen angels beheld our Lord, who had humbled himself to become a man. They beheld how he kept back not anything, even life itself, in obedience to the Father's will. They beheld Jesus, therefore, in harmony with the Divine purpose, a sacrifice for man's sin. All these were suggestions of true loyalty to the Father. Then came another great lesson. They beheld how the heavenly Father raised Jesus from the dead on the third day, no longer of manhood's estate, but of the Divine nature, far above angels and principalities and powers, and gave him a name above every name that is named (Ephesians i, 20-21; Philippians ii, 7-9).

The lesson would suggest to them the thought, "Possibly our great Creator, who has had mercy on the human family and provided a redemption for them, may yet find some manner by which he may be merciful to us, and a way of releasing us from our condemnation under which we have been for more than 2500 years."

The House Fly Spreads Disease

The fly of world-wide distribution is perhaps the one most important insect pest known to man. As a direct pest it is a source of great annoyance, necessitating, with the mosquito, an estimated annual expenditure in the United States alone of more than $10,000,000 for the screening of habitations. But the importance of this fly as an annoying pest is insignificant compared with its importance as a menace to public health through the dissemination of disease germs. In the maggot stage the fly thrives in all kinds of filth and as adult it feeds upon similar materials, thus ingesting the deadly germs of enteric diseases, such as typhoid fever, cholera, cholera infantum, the tropical dysentery, to deposit them hours, or even days, later in fly specks, often on various articles of food; or these microscopic organisms may be collected on the feet of the fly and later adhere to some food supply over which the fly may crawl in its travels.

Typhoid fever is one of the most serious ailments to which man is subject. There are about 250,000 cases of this disease annually in America, about 35,000 proving fatal. Sixty per cent of the deaths in the Franco-Prussian war and 30 per cent of the deaths in the Boer war were caused by this disease. One investigator has found the bacilli of typhoid fever in the dejecta of house flies twenty-three days after feeding, while another records the presence of this bacillus in flies during a period of two weeks. The possibilities of transmitting typhoid fever are appalling to the layman, when it is remembered that the germs of this disease may be in the system several weeks before diagnosis is possible, continue in numbers six or eight weeks after apparent recovery and in exceptional cases may be discharged from the system during a period of several years. There are authentic records of a patient distributing these germs for seventeen years and being the incipient cause of 13 cases during fourteen years of that period. Other diseases conveyed by this fly are tuberculosis, anthrax, plague, trachoma, septicemia, erysipelas, leprosy, yaws, and paratyphoid.

In an investigation of the sources of bacteria in milk, the Connecticut Experiment Station studied the bacterial population of 414 flies and concludes that the domestic fly is a dangerous enemy to human health. The numbers of bacteria on a single fly may range all the way from 550 to 6,600,000. Early in the fly season the numbers of bacteria on flies are comparatively small, while later the numbers are comparatively very large. The place where flies live also determines largely the number that they carry. The average for the 414 flies was about one and one-fourth millions bacteria on each. It hardly seems possible for so small a bit of life to carry so large a number of organisms.

As flies cannot bite, they do not inoculate individuals with disease as do some mosquitoes but they act as mechanical carriers conveying the germs either upon their bodies, or within the alimentary canal, to be deposited with the excrement. The fly then is not the "cause" but the "conveyor" of disease.

The fly breeds chiefly in fresh horse manure, and shows a decided preference for that which is wet and sloppy, especially if it is in a state of fermentation. But it will also breed in human excrement, barnyard refuse of all kinds, dirty bedding of piggeries, decaying animal and vegetable substances, garbage, sputum in spittoons, or other filth provided there is sufficient amount of moisture and moderately high temperature. A single refuse heap will supply a whole neighborhood with flies. It is not uncommon to find a manure heap literally alive with wriggling maggots.

The adult flies feed greedily upon all kinds of filth and offensive offal attack sores on all kinds of animals swarm around the sputum and excreta of persons afflicted with loathsome diseases, and then whenever a chance offers, crawl eagerly over food, oftentimes leaving behind a trail of sickness and death.

As palliative measures—screening doors and windows of dwellings, covering all milk, fruit and other food with retting and use poison and sticky fly paper liberally. To drive them from the house, darken all windows, open a door, and then burn some pyrethrum powder, or evaporate a teaspoonful of carbolic acid over a lamp.

Permanent preventive measures are, however, far less expensive in the end and much more effective than the use of temporary methods. Where horses are stabled, a closet to receive manure can be built at small cost. Such a closet must be kept closed. The effectiveness of fly-tight manure receptacles has been demonstrated beyond question.

We Work

FOURTH. To accumulate sufficient capital to start business. Young men rightfully have their ambitions. They want to start in business for themselves, but to do so requires money and for this they have to work hard and deny themselves. Thus - they learn the value of a dollar. While so saving, get five per cent. from The Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay St., Columbus, Ohio. Assets $4,700,000.

Haste is Not Real Speed

"THE more haste the less speed," you know, Mary. Did you wake in the morning to find it fifteen minutes later than your rising hour, and then in the rush to the office have some one tell you that the person who said it was right? And didn't it make you want to choke the person who said it? But there is more truth in the homely words than you would think at first, even though to you haste speed may seem synonymous.

But let's see what Webster has to say about it. Haste, the dictionary tells us, notes quickness of action and a desire for getting on, while speed notes the actual progress made. And so, after all, you see, there is more truth in the old adage than you perhaps you thought, and it applies work in the office just as it does the confusion resulting from haste trying to cram an hour into forty minutes in the morning.

The best recipe for doing an unusually large quantity of work is to "slow and keep cool."

You know the old story of the tortoise and the hare, don't you? Well, the tortoise won the race by steady plugging, while the hare who had every advantage over the tortoise, because he went to sleep on the way. Of course, not all the people who work fast stop on the way like the hare, for there are human steam engines to whom rush and bustle is second nature.

In the main, however, office workers, going at an average gait, are always in danger of getting rather muddled when a bundle of extra work thrust on them.

And this is where the haste and speed proverb, if warning is taken from it, will help the little business girl.

The worst way to tackle that stack of letters is to glance at it thinking "I'll never be able to do all that before 5 o'clock." And then when you finally do muster enough courage to get down to lessening the pile size and say to yourself, "Oh, how I wish it were 5 o'clock!"

No matter how much work you have to do your employer expects it to be finished as neatly and accurately as though you had only the usual amount, and this is possible if you go at it slowly and with a cool head, keeping your hand steady and not allowing yourself to become nervous over the thought that you will not be able to finish it by evening.

If you cannot do your work with dispatch and have it up to the standard, then let Father Time go hang—forget him—and get right down to work with the thought that you will finish whether it takes all night, and you'll be surprised how much of the stack will have disappeared by noon.

Somewhat the plodders generally go to the end of the race course, and even if they don't get first prize, at least they have the satisfaction of knowing that they finished in pretty good style.

When there is extra work to be done there is a great need of keeping a strict supervision over the nervous system, for if you don't you will be physically and mentally uncomfortable and instead of your thoughts being concentrated on the work before you they will fly hither and thither. Therefore, you can easily see how by making haste you will make much less actual progress than by going slowly, but steadily.

Stood on the Brink

Insurrecto Leader Are Threatened

Dance Hall at Juarez, Where Last Reception Was Being Held, Came Near Being the Scene of Tragedy

DYNAMITER CAUGHT AT DOOR

Man Who Drove Diaz From Mexico Was Giving Farewell Reception and Ball to 600 Friends When Former Follower Sought Entrance to Juarez Custom House — Bulging Pocket Disclosed Home-Made Bomb. Arrested and Will Be Executed.

El Paso, Tex., June 3.—Francisco I. Madero, without knowing it, had a close call for his life while he and his wife were standing in the patio of the insurrecto capitol, the Ciudad Juarez custom house, receiving their guests at their farewell dance and reception, insurrecto police on the outside captured a former Maderite official just as he was rushing to the door of the building with enough dynamite to have blown to eternity the rebel chief and the 500 or 600 El Paso and Juarez citizens surrounding him at the time. Madero left on his journey to Mexico City unaware of the attempt.

The police of Juarez did not divulge the news of the arrest until long after Madero was on his way east through Texas.

Cruz Rey, former mayor of the little town of Guadalupe, 40 miles east of Juarez, alighted from a streetcar in front of the Juarez custom house, and a bulge in his pocket attracted the attention of A. Roja, an insurrecto policeman, who saw him about to ascend the steps of the custom house. Roja placed him under arrest and found a home-made tin-can bomb in his hip pocket. He took the prisoner to the municipal jail, where he was placed in confinement. Two other men were arrested as suspects, but released. The bomb was full of dynamite. The prisoner will probably be put to death.

Hearst Sues Collier.

New York, June 3.—W. R. Hearst, editor of the New York Journal, has sued Robert J. Collier, editor and publisher of Collier's Weekly, for $500,000, alleging libel. The issue of Collier's Weekly dated June 3 contained an article written by Will Irwin, which stated that theatrical advertisements followed editorials written by Arthur Brisbane and pictures drawn by Neil Brinkley.

Boy Dies of Fright.

Gallion, O., June 3.—Laurel McCormac, 2, and his brother Weller, 6, were playing with matches in the barn at their home, when the structure caught fire and was destroyed. The little fellows escaped from the barn, but Laurel was so shocked when the flames burst forth that he died from fright before assistance could reach him.

Dick Ferris Elected First President

Republic of Lower California Makes Bow to Public.

Tia Juana, Lower California, June 3.—Dick Ferris of Los Angeles, the theatrical manager, promoter of Los Angeles' first aviation meet, and a candidate for lieutenant governor of California in the election last fall, was elected president of the Republic of Lower California, now being formed. A constitution is being drafted, and the rebels will call on those now in control of Mexico to recognize the independence of Lower California.

Equine Takes Ride.

Wheaton, O., June 3.—Denby, a horse owned by L. E. Grosjean of this city, thought he would take an auto ride, and partly succeeded. The horse was hitched to a wagon and was standing in front of a store when James E. Strock and George W. Quinby passed in the former's touring car. Denby got a whiff of the gasoline fumes and thought to join the party. He kicked himself free of the wagon and hoisted it after the auto. Just as the machine was about to turn a corner the horse made a leap and landed in the auto, the two men jumping out. The weight of the horse made the rear part of the auto give way and Denby was dropped into the road, the machine ending up in the gutter, a wreck. The two men escaped injury.

Song Writer Is Dead.

Chardon, O., June 3.—Professor William T. Rogers, manufacturer of violins and composer of war songs and church music, died here, aged 81, the result of a fall from a suburban car two weeks ago. His first song composition, "Cantilena," was bought by the Brainard company in Cleveland in 1860. Rogers received $25 for it, and the sales reached 180,000 copies in the first six months. His "Coming Home From the Old Camp Ground" and "The Sea Bird" had country-wide sales in the '60s.

Hawk and Snake Fight.

Mt. Vernon, O., June 3.—Jasper Robinson witnessed a desperate struggle between a huge hawk and a large snake. The bird had swooped down upon the serpent to make a meal of it. The snake coiled around the hawk's neck. Robinson killed both combatants.

Solons May Lose Next Year's Salary

Hogan Announces Test on Ratliff Law.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Attorney General Hogan announced he would seek by a suit in the courts to test the legality of the Ratliff law, passed by the assembly on the day of adjournment, over Governor Harmon's veto, providing that legislators should draw their salaries at once for their entire terms, expiring a year and a half hence.

He said that in his judgment the law was unconstitutional, and that perhaps he might seek to prevent legislators from even drawing their salaries for next year in the event that no session is held during that year.

Monoplane Nearly Wrecked

Earl Ovington Dumps Earth at Aviation Meet.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Earl Ovington, in a Blériot monoplane, struck the earth with great force to avoid hitting his wife, and bounded on the machine's wheels 10 times and then avoided a collision with other aeroplanes standing at the Columbus Driving park by suddenly ascending.

Ovington by prearrangement was signalling to his wife, who stood in the circle of the racetrack. Intent upon his signals, which were made by hand, he approached too near the ground without realizing it. In order to avoid hitting his wife he let the machine down abruptly. It flew across the ground in bounds and would have crashed into machines of competitors had he not sent it up as abruptly, despite a broken axle and other damage.

Maine Cofferdam Completed.

Havana, June 3.—The cofferdam around the wreck of the battleship Maine has been completed. Pumping commenced today.

Legislators Take Ride On Traction

Members of Legislature Guests of Kelsey Schoepf.

Columbus, O., June 3.—In the private car of Kelsey W. Schoepf, president of the Ohio Electric company, the members of the house finance committee and several other members of the general assembly are making a tour of the 900 miles of road operated by the company.

The finance committee members on the trip are John L. Pocock of Paulding county, Elmer E. Miller of Monroe, John C. Wain of Putnam, Harry R. Jones of Franklin, R. R. Kennedy of Allen, George M. Wilber of Union, Percy A. Walling of Pickaway, and the chairman, Mr. Goodbread. In the party also are Representative David C. Morris of Van Wert county, Earl H. Irvin of Preble and Representative James E. Lewis of Greene county, who are not members of the finance committee. One lone senator, U. S. Grant Deaton of Lucas county, is sharing the hospitality of the big traction magnate.

The finance committee is accompanied by its clerk, Miletus G. Ober, and by its special page, Charles Winters. Frank Edson, tax adjuster for the Ohio Electric system, is aiding the host-in-chief, Mr. Schoepf.

HARMON BACKS WINTERS BILL

Ohio Utility Corporations Will Be Subject to Rigid Control When Governor Signs Bill.

Columbus, June 3. (Special).—The Standard Oil owned gas companies of Ohio and the interurbans of southern and western Ohio were almost successful on the last day of the session in their efforts to beat the Winters public utility bill.

The vote in the senate was so close that the measure had only one vote to spare. Representatives of the big interests named were active against the bill up to the last minute. Had it not been for the fact that Governor Harmon helped hold the men in line and that Republicans demanded the enactment of the measure it would have been beaten.

Now that the bill has been passed as reported by the conference committee it is declared to be the best law ever placed on the statute books of any state. It is far ahead of the utility law enacted in New Jersey at the instance of Governor Woodrow Wilson. It carries the best features of the much-discussed Wisconsin and New York regulatory laws and has many good points on its own account which were injected into the measure by Representative Langdon and Senator McGuire and other members of the conference committee.

The very fact that the Winters bill is denounced by the Standard Oil and other interests is accepted as evidence that it is a measure that will prove of benefit to the people.

The bill is now in the possession of Governor Harmon. He is going over its provisions carefully and as soon as he fixes his approving signature to it the measure will be a full fledged law. He has 10 days in which to examine the bill in detail and because of its far-reaching importance, much time will have to be given to its consideration. There is no doubt but that the governor will permit the bill to become a law. During the closing days of the session his friends worked hard to put the Winters bill into such shape that it would be accepted as a good measure.

The chief changes in the public utilities commission bill as made by the conference committee bear upon the so-called "home rule" sections. The advocates of home rule wanted final power upon franchises and rates left with the city councils. There was a tentative agreement providing that after an appeal had been taken to the commission by either the utility or the people the new rate should be referred back to the city council for the purpose of permitting the people to vote upon the same.

This was changed and it was provided that within 60 days after a new rate had been fixed by the commission, 3 per cent of the people of the municipality could petition the commission for reopening of the case, with a view to making a fresh rate. This applies to water, gas and electric lighting rates. A new section was inserted providing that none but an Ohio corporation could obtain a franchise for electric lighting, gas, heating and cooling, and such franchises can not be transferred to a foreign corporation thereafter. The advocates of state regulation of competition did not secure the extension of the certificates of public necessity to other utilities than telephone companies and in this respect alone the bill could have been improved upon. It is provided that utilities doing an interstate business should not be required to obtain permission from the commission to issue securities designed for improvements outside the state. The measure permits to stand without change the senate amendment which will allow the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, now in the hands of receivers, to reorganize and issue new stocks and bonds based upon outstanding issues.

Power is given to the state commission to issue permission to public utilities furnishing a continuous service to charge a minimum rate to consumers, but the proviso is inserted that this shall not apply where a minimum rate is prohibited by the ordinance of the council or the terms of the franchises.

The important provision was inserted that when a public utility appeals from a rate fixed by council it is bound to accept the rate fixed by the commission. This is designed to prevent service being shut off pending a dispute between a municipality and a utility company, and applies specifically to natural gas companies which force renewals at high rates through threats to discontinue service. In spite of the pleadings of the telephone interests, no change was made in the basis for valuation of property for rates, and it was decided to continue the amendment that no merger shall be complete until after the property of the merging companies is valued and the rate fixed by the commission. An additional clause provides a heavy fine and imprisonment for any member of the commission who either overvalues or undervalues a utility's property for the purpose of affecting the rate.

Fabled "Merchild" Found by Excavators In Springfield Friday

Workmen in Springfield, in digging in the old Palace Hotel rubbish unearthed a curiosity in the shape of a dead body. The Springfield Sun of Saturday says:

After being hidden beneath a rubbish pile in the basement of the Palace hotel for perhaps thirty years, the body of an infant, excellently preserved, though so malformed as to be classed as a monstrosity, was brought to light yesterday and is now in the possession of Dr. L. A. Syman, who will exhibit the curiosity to the members of the Clark County Medical association at the next meeting of that body.

The body was found Monday by "Dynamo" Mike, a laborer, who was engaged in clearing the rubbish from the basement of the hotel in order that the space might be utilized. He took the body home and it was obtained yesterday by Dr. Syman, who had heard of the discovery and was professionally curious in regard to it.

The body, which is in size that of a new-born child, is in shape and appearance that of a veritable "merchild." The torso is well formed but the head is unusually large, though regularly formed. The features are good. The arms are deformed, one of them being short, the other long. One hand has but three fingers.

It is the lower part of the body that caused laymen and physicians to gasp with astonishment. From the waist down the body is that of a mythical mermaid. Scales do not appear, but instead of legs and feet, the flesh dwindles to almost a point. On the upper surface the outlines of the limbs can be dimly seen, but there is no hint of separation and no sign of feet.

Rumor Credits The Confession To Clerk Kemple

Special to Herald.

Columbus, Ohio, June 3, 1911. —What seem to be authentic reports are current here this afternoon that Charles W. Kemple, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives is the man who confessed to the prosecutor and the attorney general to having acted as the go-between for another and Owen Evans, and delivered to the latter a one hundred dollar bribe.

The prosecutor and the attorney general refused to either deny or affirm the rumor when asked about it today.

Les Robinson Leaves City In a Hurry

Les Robinson, colored, an employee of the Bryant Barber Shop, left in such a hurry last night that he did not take time to carry a change of clothes with him, going toward Columbus on the night train.

The cause of Robinson's unceremonious departure is said to be due to the fact the police say that they were on the point of bringing him before Mayor Allen on a charge of bootlegging.

The police say they have been keeping one eye upon Robinson, and it is said that he received a tip that the net was about to be pulled in, and left accordingly, not taking time to say farewell to his friends here.

Robinson has been in this city and employed at the Bryant shop for some three years. He is married and his wife lives here. It is said that yesterday he received notice to move from the property he has been occupying.

Some eighteen months ago a colored man who was familiarly known as "Boggers" left on the double-quick because the authorities wanted him for legging.

The proprietor of the shop, Chas. Bryant, was arrested Wednesday night for bootlegging.

Carrier Pigeon Found in Barn

Mr. Dave Hegler, residing about seven miles below this city on the Chillicothe pike caught in his barn Saturday morning a handsome carrier pigeon.

The bird had a band on its right leg with the inscription "O 32453". It seemed to be in fairly good condition aside from the fact that it was bewildered and greatly exhausted.

Mr. Hegler has no knowledge of when the bird entered his barn, but from its appearance, believes it was some time late Friday evening.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Deep Breathing For Drooping Shoulders.

Full and deep breathing will do more to straighten drooping shoulders than the wearing of braces, and if every one would take special pains to lift and hold the chest in its proper position round shoulders would disappear. Lifting the chest does not include any other exercise and is one of the simplest when once it is understood, but for some reason is one of the hardest ones to comprehend. It consists simply in the muscular movement of lifting up the chest, as though you were trying to lift it high enough to touch the chin. The arms and shoulders should be left in their natural position, and on no account should the shoulders be lifted at the same time you are lifting up the chest. Try the exercise. Stand perfectly easy and relaxed. Avoid tense muscles or any undue exertion, and see if you can accomplish the feat. You will readily understand that when the chest is no longer hollow, but is well up in its normal position, the shoulders cannot be rounded, but will naturally settle into their normal place.

Resiprocal.
Peter L. Harris, the well known grain expert of Lincoln, was condemning the reciprocity idea.

"The United States promoters of Canadian reciprocity expect much of it," he said. "They expect to gain practically everything and to give practically nothing. Well, they'll get left—their Billings."

"I'll went to a horse sale one day and bought a horse for $18. When he got the horse home he offered it a bucket of water, but it wouldn't drink. After that he gave it a feed of corn, but it wouldn't touch that either."

"By gosh," he said, "you're the very horse for me if you'll only work!"

Poor Old D. T. & I. May Lose Big Contracts Now Out $1800 a Day

It now seems that the D. T. & I. is upon the point of losing its transportation of coal from the Jackson Herald, in a recent issue, says:

According to well authenticated reports, the C. & O. is not satisfied with its traffic arrangements with D. T. & I., whereby the latter is given 50 cars of coal daily for transportation to the points. It is said that the C. & O. will in the near future turn its business over to the N. & W. Kenova for transportation to Columbus where it will be picked up by the Hocking Valley. The double tracking which was recently completed between Kenova and

Columbus make this arrangement possible. The C. & O. will shortly bridge the Ohio and connect with the Hocking Valley and according to best advices the bridge will be built at Sciotoville and the connecting link will be over the Cove route. If the D. T. & I. loses the C. & O. business it will be in sorry straits for according to Gen. Hughes the road is now losing $1800 per day. It was generally hoped that the C. & O. would acquire the D. T. & I., but it now looks as if the present owners would have to worry along with their "white elephant."

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, June 3, 1911.

Using the Englishman's "Are we downhearted?" as a sort of feeler on baseball sentiment, we can honestly shout out a vociferous, "No." Has not President Lynch, of the National League, after a careful digesting of the dope, declared that there still are seven National League clubs in the race for the pennant? Weren't the Phillies, whom trusting fans had already assigned the pennant, humbled in less than two weeks? Haven't the more lowly teams in the National League been swatting the considerable mighty aggregations with some vehemence and degree of regularity? Of a certainty, Miguel. So, why be downhearted, ye fans of Cincinnati, Chicago, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh or several other cities whose teams do not lead the National League race? The way to the world's series is long, and there may be many a puncture recorded between now and October. In fact, look for a few unexpected results in the coming series between the East and the West. Locally, we are looking forward with much pleasure to entertaining the Bostonians next Sunday, June 4, and the New Yorks on the following Sunday, with many contests in the interim. As the Reds are getting better all the time, look for some advance in the team's percentage during the stay of the Eastern contingent.

Remember when you were a kid on the lots how you hated to be placed in right field, as that meant that you were the weakest man on the team? Remember how in the old days of organized baseball pitchers or catchers were sent to right field when they were not working as batteries? That the game has changed since those days is evidenced by the fact that stars of the first magnitude now play in right field. There's Mitchell, of the Reds; Crawford, of the Detroit; Schulte, of Chicago; Devore, of New York; Wilson, of Pittsburgh, and others—as good men as the outfield division can boast of—and they're all playing right field. There was a time when the right fielder was considered more or less of a lemon. But he must be a peach these days to hold his job.

These are the days when big league managers are keeping their telescopes and their dope sheets directed at the various minor leagues, for these are the days of the uncovering of the future. Mathewson, McLeans, Wagners, Cobbs and such, and the manager who gets the first "inside information" concerning these prize students in the baseball high schools is the chap who will have a hunch on his rivals when it comes to garnering the persimmons in the spring. Some idea of the ticklishness of the industry of picking big league material may be gleaned from the experience of Manager Griffith. Of the large number of youngsters whom he culled from the minors last fall, only five still are "in our midst"—Keefe, Severoid, Altizer, Schreiber and Esmond—and of these five Keefe is the only one who is being worked regularly. The Reds' management has set aside a large amount for new players, and the next few weeks ought to bring some favorable reports concerning prospective talent for 1912.

No world's record is safe these days. Saturday saw the smashing of the one-mile sprinting record for amateurs, when Jones, of Cornell, chopped the time for that distance down to 4 minutes and 15 seconds in the intercollegiate games at the Harvard Stadium. And on Sunday, just to show that Old Father Time hadn't grabbed him by the arms as yet, Martin Sheridan, of New York, proceeded to throw the discus about a foot and a half farther than it ever had been thrown, placing the new mark at 141 feet, 4 3/8 inches. Looks as if they'd have to remodel all these statutes of Greek athletes and make 'em Americans.

My, my, but "Lil Ahah" Johnson is getting frisky in his conversations. Taking a few minutes off from explaining to the judge why he was driving so fast, Johnson announces that he's willing to meet Sam Langford before the club offering the best purse and for a side bet of from $10,000 to $20,000. Then he proceeds to give the "white man's hope" campaign a jolt by saying that he would rather fight a Caucasian than an Ethiopian, although he is unable to discover any one of either race who will make him perspire. And, strange, as it may appear, the general run of fight followers agree with Johnson.

Your genuine turfman—not the race track gambler—is viewing with feelings of joy the return to popularity of the racing game in Kentucky. During the Lexington meeting the crowds were the largest of many years, and the sport generally was conducted on a clean and satisfactory basis. Louisville reports even a further advance, in the matter of clean sport, the manner of conducting the betting, the clean handling of the horses, and large crowds which are in daily attendance marking a renaissance of the "sport of kings" that is likely to land it on a higher plane than it has ever before enjoyed. Hurrah.

C. H. ZUBER.

A Want Ad Is Often The First Link In a Chain of Consequences

It initiates something of far-reaching importance to you. You meet someone with whom you will do business for years—or you buy or sell property that changes the currents of our daily affairs. Many a want ad is of but transient importance, of course. But others influence your life for years and years.

be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a god-send to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvet skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Applied Science.

When James Russell Lowell was minister to England he was guest at a banquet at which one of the speakers was Sir Frederick Bramwell. Sir Frederick was to respond to the toast "Applied Science." It was long after midnight when the toast was proposed, and several speakers were still to be called. Rising in his place, the scientist said:

"At this hour of the night, or, rather, of the morning, my only interest in applied science is to apply the tip of the match to the side of the box upon which alone it ignites and to apply the flame so obtained to the wick of a bedroom candle."

A moment later Lowell tossed a paper across the table to him bearing these two lines:
Oh, brief Sir Frederick, would that all could catch
Your happy talent and supply your match!

The Home Beautiful.

As an investment there is nothing more certain than good residence properties of moderate cost. With ordinary care in the selection of a location, and personal and intelligent supervision of the construction, an enterprise of this character cannot prove other than profitable. The demand for well located and artistically designed homes is constant and never fully supplied and in a growing city the investment is one that cannot go amiss. Our popular "Home Beautiful" series offers the cream of modern, medium priced residences. A home such as is shown here is one that especially appeals as an investment proposition. The design is such as to never get out of date.

Size 27 x 35 feet, without porch. Height of ceilings 9 feet 2 inches and 8 feet. Cellar, 6 feet 6 inches, divided into two rooms. Brick foundation. Outside weather-boarded over shiplap and paper. Roof shingled. Inside finish in cypress. Plastering three coats. Modern plumbing. Outside painted two coats. This house is of the bungalow type, having all on one floor except one chamber, and with a wide cornice. Estimated at $2100.
